July 2015 Newsletter
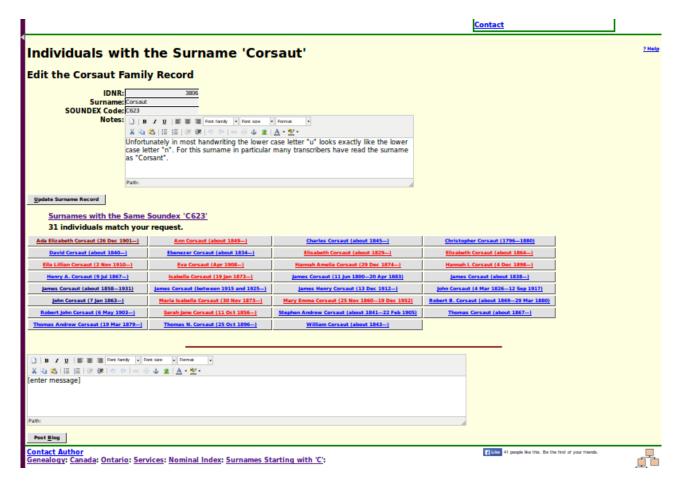

There are a few new capabilities on this family history site. In particular:
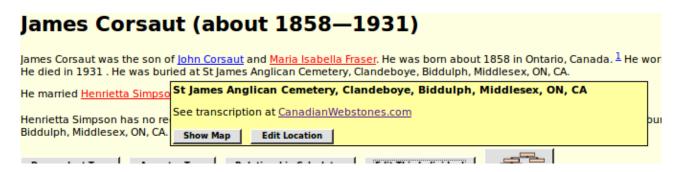

1. There are a series of video tutorials on various features of the web-site. Viewing these will show you how to use the site more effectively, and demonstrate how to add and modify information in the family tree. In particular I hope that these will make you more comfortable in adding information onto the site.

2. The order in which information is displayed on the main page for an individual for both the individual and the individual's spouses has been slightly changed to simplify the implementation. I believe this order of presentation is also more intuitive.
